This meeting started with a description of how the KU Student Senate Body works as an organization – its mission, goals, budget, meeting procedures, and annual student body election.

Ms Johnson described how laws are amended and put forth. She was eager in promoting the resources that are available for students and student organizations in KU and encouraged AWM to apply for some funding opportunities through the KU Student Senate. She also invited the student members and officers to join the various committees in the Senate and help make a difference in the KU campus community. One of her main jobs is to communicate with various administrators and representatives within University Governance to voice student concerns on various issues.

As a student leader and a devoted scholar, Ms Johnson shared how she manages her time between her academic responsibilities, Student Senate job, and personal and family life. She shared that her position has allowed her to grow as a person and develop as a student.