Math 122 Syllabus

Instructor: Jay Schweig – jschweig@math.ku.edu – 641 Snow Hall.

Website: All relevant course information, including exam times, homework assignments, office hours, et cetera, will be posted on the course website: http://www.math.ku.edu/~jschweig/teaching

Office Hours: TBA.

Prerequisite: Math 121 or equivalent.

Homework: There will be daily homework assignments, each due at the start of class. It is each student’s responsibility to read the relevant sections in the text. If you do not attend a lecture in which a homework assignment is due, you must put the assignment under my office door before the beginning of the lecture.

Late Homework: No late homework will be accepted, ever. In extenuating circumstances, a student may be excused from a particular assignment.

Tests & Quizzes: There will be two in-class exams, a midterm, and a final exam. The dates of these exams, once determined, will be posted on the course website. Short quizzes will be given periodically. Each quiz will be announced the previous day.

Grading: Each student will receive a final numerical grade out of 900 points, broken up as follows: 100 points for each of the two in-class exams, 200 points for the midterm, 200 points for homework and quizzes, and 300 points for the final exam. The corresponding percentage will then be subject to the standard cutoffs (90% for an A, 80% for a B, and so on).

Honor Code: No cheating! (If you are unsure as to whether or not a specific action is cheating, it probably is!)

Accommodations: The KU Office of Disability Resources coördinates accommodations and services for all students who are eligible. If you have a disability for which you wish to request accommodations and have not contacted DR, please do so as soon as possible. Their office is located in 22 Strong Hall, and their phone number is 785-864-2620 (V/TTY). Information about their services can be found at www.disability.ku.edu Please also contact me privately in regard to your needs in this course.

Note: If anything about this syllabus is changed, I will post the change on the website. In general, it is a good idea to check the website frequently.
